Custodial history

Helen Rooza (1915-1995) was a wardrobe mistress with a career spanning from the 1950's for several decades. Helen Rooza was born Helen Irene Wedel in Cape Town in October 1915. She learned the art of dressmaking from her mother at their home in Cape Town. She worked as a machinist at Fairweather clothing factory in District Six, and as a Bespoke tailoress at Bragin & Fairfield on Adderley Street. She also taught sewing to mothers at the Marion Institute at District Six.

Her career in theatre began when she started designing and making costumes for the Marion Institute contributing to the Community Chest Concert at City Hall in 1953. It was here that she met Peggy Harper (director) and Stephen de Villiers (designer). In 1953 Helen executed De Villiers' costume designs for Carols by Candlelight in Newlands and costume designs for the Vintage Festival in Paarl in 1954. Helen was invited by De Villiers to execute designs for the Little Theatre production in 1955. In late 1955 Helen joined the University of Cape Town (UCT) Drama Department as a Wardrobe mistress.

Helen was responsible for costuming at the Little Theatre for twenty years until 1975. Helen worked with other companies including the Labia theatre, and Cockpit Players at Hofmeyr Theatre. Helen provided costuming for various youth productions such as Theatre for youth, Athlone High School, Springfield Convent, and Sea Point Boys High. In 1968 Helen received the British Council Scholarship to study theatre productions upon recommendation of Prof Rosalie van der Gucht.

In the 1970's Helen became a founder member of the Space Theatre in Bloem Street with Brian Astbury, Yvonne Bryceland, and Athol Fugard. Helen received the Cape Tercentenary Foundation award in 1979 for her contribution to cultural life. Helen officially retired in 1975 but continued working with The Company of Four at the Baxter Theatre until 1979. Helen immigrated to Sydney, Australia joining her son and his family. Helen Rooza passed away in November 1995 at the Nepean Hospital in Sydney.
