Custodial history

Reverend Daniel J. Jacobs was one of the leading pastors at the Zion African Methodist Episcopal (AME) Church in Worcester. The origin of the AME Church began in 1787 in the United States of America, where Richard Allen was elected as its first Bishop. In the years that followed the Church entered a season of enlargement, bringing with it the development of the AME Church in Southern Africa.

In 1891/1892 the AME Church expanded further with the Ethiopian Church at the forefront of the Church movement, founded in Pretoria with Pastor M.M. Mokone. The Ethiopian Church brought about the expansion of the AME Church in Southern Africa. At the General Conference of the AME Church held in Philadelphia in May 1896, the proposed union of the Ethiopian Church and the AME Church was formalised. In 1900 the AME Church was formally recognised by the Cape of Good Hope Government in Cape Town. The AME Church was not always welcomed by the community, in several instances the Church experienced persecution and some of the pastors were prohibited from preaching.

Francis Herman Gow became the first South African born Bishop of the 15th Episcopal District AME Church in 1906. In 1932-1936 Bishop H.D. Sombs was assigned to South Africa. He was one of the first bishops to encourage the Laymen's Organisation in the Church which constituted several young men. After the 1940 General Church Conference, the work of South Africa was divided into two Episcopal Districts. The 15th Episcopal District was composed of the Cape, the Orange Free State, and Natal. The 17th Episcopal District was composed of Transvaal, Portuguese East Africa, North/South Rhodesia, and Nyasaland. By 1944-1948 there were 405 churches, 341 pastors, 44 presiding elders, and 64,000 members. There were 150 primary schools, 1 training institute, 1 health centre and 1 school of religion. The AME Church continues to have a large following in South Africa.
